

ab The spatial barcode

BC1 names the column, BC2 the row: 3,350 $\times$ 3,350 squares

Lengths alternate between neighbours, so a read one base short or long in a half has the length of its neighbour's barcode.

c Keeping every candidate until the moleculed Decoder check

0 errors

in 54,545,380 distances over 36,277,422 query pairs and the full codebook of 6,700 oligos, against an independent Wagner-Fischer calculation